RENO FAMISHES FOR ICE THAT DOES NOT COME

PLENTY IN STOREHOUSES AWAY UP IN THE SIERRAS

Only One Load Since Thursday Morning for the Whole City --Cannot Get Cars

Sweltering under the vertical rays of a July sun, Reno is iceless. There are small reserves in some of the dispensaries of liquid refreshments which may permit of a frappe if called for sufficiently early this morning, but not if the order is deferred too long.

The ice famine, approaching for days, arrived on the afternoon of the third, when the last cake of congealed water from the Sierra creeks was hauled from the storage warehouse on East Fourth street. Meager reinforcements arrived that night in the form of a single carload. The same quantity was also received on the morning of the Fourth.

Now the supply is as near a minus quantity as such a thing is possible.

The Reno Ice & Cold Storage Company which supplies Reno has a warehouse with a capacity of 50 carloads and is backed up by an artificial plant in occasional operation. A few weeks ago the warehouse was full to overflowing with natural ice, but the reserves dwindled away as the thermometer rose. Efforts were made to replenish, but there were no cars available. The supply was about one carload a day less than the demand. The result was inevitable.

Reno consumes three carloads of ice a day, without wasting any of it. The Reno Brewing Company alone uses nearly a carload a day in the torrid season. Yesterday it was unable to send out a carload of beer on a rush order, because it was unable to ice the cars.

Far up the Truckee river, at Boca, Iceland and other points below Truckee, there are warehouses with walls bulging from the weight of ice, but the Union Ice Company and its agent, the Reno Ice &Cold Storage Company, cannot get cars.

"Cars," is their cry. If they get the cars the people will get the ice.

"DIABOLICALLY POLITE" IS COL. STOKES TO HIS WIFE

PRESSING DIVORCE CASE, N. Y. GUARDSMAN IS SUAVE

Introduced Officer Who Served His Complaint, and Proposed Coney Island Trip

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

NEW YORK, July 5.—The entire National Guard of the state is talking about the suit of Colonel William A. Stokes of Brooklyn's Twenty-third regiment, for the annulment of his marriage, because of the bearing it may have on the colonel's military future.

Three weeks ago Colonel Stokes began the suit. He declared he had learned that his wife's first husband, John M. Hitchings, was still alive in Tacoma. The little incident of how his wife first learned of his intention to seek his freedom throws a great light on the personal character of the colonel and does much to explain what is meant when her friends refer to his "diabolical politeness."

"Some One to See You, Dear."

Colonel Stokes and his wife were sitting quietly in their private sitting room. The colonel was smoking a pipe and reading a novel aloud to his wife, while Mrs. Stokes was embroidering a centerpiece to present to the wife of an officer in the colonel's regiment.

Anyone walking into the room would have set them down at once as an ideal couple, deeply in love with each other, despite the fact that they were both past the meridian of life.

The front door bell rang, and, without waiting for any of the servants, the colonel, rose, bowed politely and said:

"Dearie, I will open the door."

He hurried downstairs, opened the door, and after a minute's conversation with the visitor, called upstairs:

"My dear, it's someone to see you."

His Diabolical Politeness.

The colonel remained holding the door open while Mrs. Stokes came down stairs. She was greeted by a young man, who handed her a piece of paper, tipped his hat and left. The colonel then assisted Mrs. Stokes up stairs again, and when she had taken her seat she opened the paper, and to her utter amazement, found it was the complaint in her husband's suit for an annulment of their marriage.

She was so dumbfounded that she couldn't talk, but he was smiling as if he had just given her a Christmas present. Before she would trust herself to say a word he was on his feet again.

"Come on, ma, and let's go down to Coney Island and have a pleasant afternoon," he said.

This same remarkable and so-called "diabolical politeness" has marked his every move since, and, while they are still living in the house, he is pressing his case as quickly as his attorney can eat. At the same time, when her attorneys call, he greets them genially and he never leaves or enters the house without showing solicitude for her health.

BATTLESHIPS IN WAR'S ARRAY TO SAIL THE PACIFIC

AMERICAN NAVAL BOARD HAS PREPARED PLANS

"Fighting Bob" to Command the Fleet of Armored Monsters for San Francisco

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 5.—In command of a fleet of sixteen of the stoutest battleships of the American navy, it is planned to send Admiral Rodley D. Evans into the Pacific, a trip of 13,000 miles, the longest cruise of such a fleet on record.

No one connected with the navy department at Washington denies it and Oyster Bay preserves silence, although there come from Japan a note of uneasiness. Details are lacking, but the general board of the navy has planned everything in advance, so that war will not find the nation unprepared.

It is Admiral Dewey's private plan.

"A Practice Cruise."

"I have received no orders for a cruise, what may be in contemplation, I, of course, do not know. It is my business only to do whatever the government may require," said Admiral Evans aboard his flagship tonight. He attaches no more significance to the plans for a practice cruise that will take his great fleet around the Horn and over a course of 14,000 miles, than have other officers who viewed it as a part of the routine naval operations. Leaving New York or Hampton Roads in the early fall, the battleships would probably steam straight to Culebra, where coal would be taken on. The next stop will be Rio de Janeiro, and from that point the vessels would not stop until they reached Sand Point in the Straits of Magellan. Here again, the coal supply would be replenished for the run to Callao, Peru.

From Panama to San Francisco.

The next stage would be from Callao to Panama and from that port the ships would proceed without a stop to San Francisco.

It is believed that after reaching Peruvian waters the movements of the vessels will be much more deliberate than up to that time. Although the reason for this statement is not officially obtainable, it is apparent that the explanation is to be found in the fact that battleships will be within easy reach of San Francisco—in other words they could in an emergency arrive at that port before any other fleet could.

Further Additions.

The armored cruisers Washington and Tennessee which are now in French waters, are under orders to immediately refit and proceed to the Pacific coast to form part of an ar-

LEADING WOMEN OF RENO FAVOR JOURNAL'S PLAN

Maintain That Members of Gentler Sex Should Control Public School System

Women of Reno, mothers of the children that are being educated in the local schools, unanimously agreed yesterday, when interviewed by a Journal representative, that the members of the gentler sex should be given positions on the board of trustees. Some, more emphatic than the others, spoke of the recent dissention among the present board, and said that politics could only be eliminated from educational affairs by giving the control to the mothers of this city.

Following are a few of the expressions commending the policy of this paper as voiced by prominent members of the Twentieth Century Club yesterday:

Mrs. B. F. Lecte, 441 North Virginia street—"Some women at least should be appointed members of the board of school trustees. If we can not have good conduct on the part of the men officials, I favor an immediate change. Politics has entered into the actions of the board in the past, and the secretary has stated openly that he would even the score because of the trouble resulting from the Pearson and Cafferata affair last fall. This condition is deplored by the mothers throughout the city, and many agree with me that women should be allowed to aid

GROSS IRREGULARITIES MARK PRESENT CONTROL

Debts Carried for Years--Expenditures Ahead of Appropriations --Politics Dominates Acts

The suggestion made by The Journal Wednesday morning that the women of Reno be given representation upon the board of school trustees has borne fruit even more quickly than was expected. This suggestion was prompted by the strong odor of politics, and of personal enmity engendered by political differences, which arose from the action of the board on Monday evening in dropping six veteran teachers from the list of instructors for next year.

Three members of the present board were interviewed yesterday, and expressed themselves as heartily in favor of giving the mothers of the city supervision over the education of their children. One of this number, Mr. Burke, pledged himself to resign immediately on condition that Superintendent of Schools Moran agrees to fill the vacancy by the appointment of a woman. Other members of the board who were interviewed would not go to the extent of making so flat a declaration; but it is known that three members of the board are willing to hand their resignations to the superintendent on the sole condition that

Let's Get Rid of Maxson as School Boss,--There's a Way; Moran Willing to Name Women If Trustees Resign

Mothers of Reno Are United in Belief That Journal Plan Is Good

Gross Irregularities Work of Controlling Present Political Powers

he name capable women to succeed them.

Moran Will Appoint Women.

Superintendent Moran, when seen last evening by a Journal representative, and told that some of the present members of the board are ready to retire if he will name women to succeed them, promptly accepted the condition.

"If the members of the present board of school trustees will resign their places, I will appoint competent women to their places, others in Reno, qualified for the position, can be named without trouble to assume the responsibilities of the office. Women with education and capable of fulfilling the duties of trustees are nearly as numerous as men. Yes, I favor giving the women of the city a chance to direct the governing of the institutions of learning."

With this flat declaration from the official who is vested with the power of appointment in the case of vacancies in the school board, and with the assurance that some of the present members will step down and out and give place to women, early concerted action by the mothers of the city looking to taking the control out of the present hands is certain.

Twentieth Century Club May Act.

No organized movement has yet been launched, but it is probable that within the course of a few days the Twentieth Century Club will hold a meeting to discuss the subject. As the result of such a meeting, it could easily be arranged with the trustees who are willing to resign, and with Superintendent Moran, that the resignations shall be filed, and the vacancies filled by the appointment of mothers.

That the women shall be given entire charge of the schools is a proposition to which Mr. Moran would not, probably, agree. It is likely that he will insist that at least two men be kept on the board to counsel its action in purely business matters. But otherwise, it needs only the necessary steps by the mothers of the city, who are interested in preserving the schools from taint of politics and personalities, to meet the trustees who are willing to resign and the superintendent, in order to have such a reorganization of the board as will wipe out present conditions.

How Three Members Talk.

The members of the board who were yesterday willing to express themselves on the subject of The Journal's plan for lifting the school system out of the mire of partisan politics, and slough of one-man control, were Messrs. Walker, Cahlan and Burke. These gentlemen declared themselves in this wise:

Trustee Walker—"I would give the women a chance to aid in governing the schools. Perhaps it is unjust that all the policy in education here should be dictated by five men, but there is really nothing to do at present about the matter. Next election is the time to agitate the choosing of women trustees."

Trustee A. W. Cahlan—"I think some women should be appointed to the board, but not given control. The women could act as advisors to the majority members, the men. Of course, I realize that the management of affairs here under present conditions is not as smooth as it should be, but I have done my best to acquaint people with the workings of the board. To relieve the situation I would be in favor of letting at least two women join with three men in directing educational matters."

Burke Willing to Resign.

Trustee Charles H. Burke—"I will resign in a minute on condition that the superintendent of schools appoint a woman in my place. Properly the regulation of educational affairs should be directed by women, and I would have them accept that responsibility at once by accepting places on the board of trustees. The statements made by the other trustees that women would be good advisors for the board correspond partly with my own views. The sooner the management of the institutions of learning is given to the mothers Reno the better I will be pleased."

One member of the board who was not seen yesterday was Colonel Maxson, who, without ever having been elected to the place, is now serving a second term as a member of the trustee body, and who has earned the sobriquet, "Boss of the Board." Colonel Maxson has been resting from his ardous labors in drawing two salaries from the city, and celebrating the Glorious Fourth in San Francisco. He is expected to return home tomorrow, when his views may, probably, be obtainable.

Bills Three Years Overdue.

The deeper the probe of investigation is inserted into the school situation, the worse are the conditions which are developed. It was learned yesterday, for instance, that the furniture in the South Side school building, which has been in use for three years has never been paid for. The present board knew nothing of this item of indebtedness until the firm which manufactured the furniture sent a sharp dunning letter in an effort to secure payment of its bills. And then the only way the present board could ascertain whether or not the bill actually remained unpaid was to go about town questioning its predecessors, so loosely had the books of the board been kept.

Another statement made yesterday by one who is in position to know, is most startling. The board is so far behind with its bills, it was said, that when the semi-annual distribution of the state school appropriation is made, and it is due now in about two weeks, virtually every cent of it will be consumed in the payment of back bills, leaving the board no option except either to borrow money, thereby keeping the system in debt, or to fail to open the schools. In other words, the schools have been so managed that they are running about six months behind in their payments all the time, and are, virtually, being kept open on borrowed money.

These are but instances of the flagrancies of the management since it began to be dominated by the chairman of the Republican State Central Committee.

Efficiency Was No Criterion.

Still another interesting fact learned yesterday, makes it incumbent upon one member of the board to publicly explain a statement which was printed in The Journal of Wednesday. Growing out of the dropping of six of the veteran teachers who had had the courage to stand out in the Twentieth Century Club in opposition to Maxson's man Cafferata for the legislature, the charge of politics was made. Maxson was accused of having used the power he wields over the board to vent his personal enmity against those who had been especially active in the movement which kept the proprietor of the Second street dump out of the legislature. One member of the board, when questioned by The Journal, declared that in determining to drop the six teachers, the board was guided by the report of the principal as to the efficiency of the various applicants.

It was learned yesterday that at Monday night's meeting of the board, no report by the principal as to efficiency was submitted until after Trustee Nelson had demanded its production, and that when the principal's report was laid before the board, it pronounced only one teacher of last year inefficient. This is directly contrary to the statement made by the trustee, and puts another light on the board's action.

MARRIES VIRGINIA MAN.

Mrs. Nellie H. Somers, mother of Mrs. Wellington Werrin, was married yesterday to Louis H. Otten of Virginia City. The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace Frank Bell.

LEADING WOMEN ALL FAVOR JOURNAL'S PLAN

in directing the department of education."

Mrs. Harry Gosse, the Riverside hotel—"Women, if given the chance to control school matters, would not be bothered with politics, and their work would serve to show the inefficiency of the present administration. The mothers of Reno take an unusual interest in educational matters, and their knowledge of conditions, unknown to most men, is their strongest recommendation to the place."

Mrs. Fred Schadler, 445 South Virginia street—"Men have too much interest in other affairs to make competent school trustees. The woman who cares for children, knows their needs and necessarily mixes no politics with her conduct, is the proper person to have charge of the educational institutions. I admire The Journal for the stand it has taken on this subject, and I will aid in every way to get a board of women school trustees. I am familiar with the story of the dismissal of several teachers because of so-called inefficiency, but the true reason is easily ascertained. The action should not be tolerated, and would not be if there were three women members of the board."

Mrs. John Lewis, wife of Dr. Lewis—"I do not approve of the action of the present school administration in dropping several of the instructors, and I believe if there had been women on the board such dissention as this would never have been raised. It is time mothers were given a chance to direct the policy of education here. Surely, the women are capable enough. They know the things necessary to qualify in the positions now occupied by Cahlan, Burke, Maxson, Nelson and Dr. Walker. If the voters think I am too confident of the capability of women, let them at least give members of the sex a chance to prove their unfitness."

Mrs. E. E. Wardin, 469 South Virginia street—"When school affairs are administered as reported now, it is time the women were given an opportunity to control the board of trustees. What can the ordinary man eligible to the position know of the qualifications for a trustee. By association and environment the women are familiar with educational matters, and they should be given control."

CHINESE MINISTER TO BE IN RENO MONDAY

The Chinese minister is on the way and will pass through Reno on Monday morning in the private car Courier.

It is contrary to the rules of the Southern Pacific Company to attach a special car to the "limited," and the only way in which the diplomat could secure this privilege was by purchasing every berth in one of the regular cars of the train for the trip.

Belz, while under the influence of liquor, according to his answer filed yesterday, entered the Elite saloon and gambling house and there played the games until he was $2,600 loser.

He did not take this money into the saloon with him, but was given credit for that sum by the dealers of the games. He asserts that he received no value for the amount sued for.

"CUSTOMERS" GONE

In letters two feet high a sign tacked to a local saloon and gambling house read, "Costumer at Carson."

Of course the sign meant that the departing thousands for the carnival might obtain costumes there for the bal masque, but an inebriated occupant of the almost deserted street after the trains left, got the orthography slightly mixed. He gazed awhile at the letters, which were circulating in bacchalian fashion, and thickly ejaculated:

"Tha's right, 'Customers all gone to Carson.'"

THE SUPERIOR FAMILY

(From the New York Times)

Pop's on the grand jury, probing for graft,
And aunty has gone to the club;
The decks are deserted at home fore and aft,
There's no one but me, Bill and Bub;
My Ma's at the neighbor's for all afternoon,
The fifth of a course of pink teas;
They're playing bridge whist, or they will be right soon
And we're growing up as we please.

Bub, he crawled up on the top of the shed
And climbed the roof clear to the ridge.
And just as he slipped and fell down on his head
My mamma was saying: "I'll bridge."
A dog jumped at Bill and made fast to his cheek,
And bit out a quite lavish piece,
About the same time aunty got up to speak
Her piece on the "Lays of Old Greece."

Pop saves the country by probing for graft
While aunty grows cultured each day;
And ma clings to bridge as superior craft
That brings all her wits into play;
But me, Bill and Bob—well we ain't of much use
Beside of such problems as these;
We can't go along so they turn us all loose
And we're growing up as we please.

SOUTHWARD HO! JOURNAL GIRLS START TONIGHT

Four Winners of the Popularity Contest Bound for Southern California's Delights

Train No. 23 will carry a merry party out of Reno this evening. Twenty-three, good-bye, skidoo, swastika.

It is the Reno Journal party and may good luck and all manner of pleasure attend the members. May they return, tanned, happy, content. Whatever The Journal can do for them will be done, for isn't Fred White, assistant manager of The Journal, with them, possessed of fat check book and authority to disburse as frequently and as voluminously as the occasion may demand.

The members of the party are first and foremost

MISS BESSIE AMBUR of Sparks.
MISS IRENE BARCLAY of Goldfield.
MISS LEITA PEEK of Reno.
MISS DOTTIE TUNNEY of Reno.

This quartette are the prize winners in The Journal competition of a few months ago. This paper offered vacation trips to the young ladies receiving the highest votes and the state was distracted for the purpose of making the selection as representative as possible. The friends of the young ladies entered in the contest, worked hard for them and The Journal has kept faith. In fact, it will do more than it promised.

Miss Tunney received the highest number of votes and was given the privilege of choosing a chaperon for the party. Her natural selection, and a praiseworthy one, was her mother.

Personal Conductor White will be personaly conducted by Mrs. White and to fortify the personnel of the party J. E. McKinnon of The Journal will travel with them. As a matter of course Mrs. McKinnon will not remain at home.

Yesterday The Journal busied itself and secured sleeping car accommodations, not only on No. 23, but on the connecting train on the Coast lines. The jump will be made directly to Los Angeles.

The party will there be the guest of The Journal at the best hotels for a period of several days, during which time Mr. White and his check book will be very busy, for the party will visit every point of interest reachable from the City of the Angels.

At the week's end The Journal will have fulfilled its obligations. Each member of the party will be presented with her return trip ticket and a scatterment will result. The return limit is fixed far in the future and each of the young ladies is privileged to go where she listeth and straggle back home.

The young ladies are a-bubble with enthusiasm over the prospects of the trip and each promises to regale the readers of The Journal with notes on the journey. Be prepared for some crisp, bright writings from The Journal excursionists.

BREN SMITH TELLS A NEW BEAR STORY

Adventure in Plumas County with a Cinnamon Bear and Dried Apples.

Bren Smith, the well known young mining engineer, returned to Reno last night from Plumas county somewhat ahead of schedule.

He had gone north to inspect some placer properties and was camped alone in a little cabin in the hills. Night before last he was awakened from his slumbers by the sniffing of a big cinnamon bear, which had injected its head into the cabin door.

Caleb espied a package of dried apples at one side of the door, which he quickly devoured. Turning his nozzle to the other side of the cabin door it came in contact with a bucket of water, which was hastily lapped up.

The inevitable eventuated. Bruin swelled up so quickly that he could not withdraw from the door until his proportions prevented egress. In the meantime Bren dressed in jig time, climbed out of the rear window of the cabin and hot-footed the trail to the railroad.

PROSPECTED FOR TROUBLE WITH GREAT SUCCESS

Waiter and Customer Punctuate Their Remarks With Hot Soup.

A rich strike was made in a Douglas avenue restaurant yesterday afternoon, the paystreak being tapped near the surface of a lead which showed high values in soup, coffee, native sons and blackberry pie, not to mention the supplementary values in profanity, which ran into fancy figures.

The prospectors out looking for trouble were a waiter and one of the customers, and neither is a jubilant over his success in finding it as he might be expected to be.

No one knows what led to the trouble in the first place, but for a time others in the place sought safey under tables, or any old place that offered shelter, while the waiter and the customer fired soup, coffee, pie and profanity at each other across the counter.

When the smoke of battle cleared the customer, who had used his dinner to punctuate his remarks to the waiter, was served with a fresh repast, a large can was tied to the waiter, and the proprietor got busy prying the blackberry pie from the wallpaper and shampooing the dark blue coffee from his hair.

CALIFORNIANS FIGHT FLOOD

BAKERSFIELD, July 5.—The waters of Buena Vista lake are still pouring through the great gap in the south end of the broken levee and spreading toward the San Emidio road, where an army of men and horses are feverishly at work throwing up an embankment to save 20,000 acres of cultivated land from inundation.

GARFIELD WILL SIFT PROTEST OF RECLAIMERS

Secretary of the Interior Coming on July 28 to Hear Fallon Farmers' Complaint

"Mr. Garfield is the head of the department of reclamation in the United States, and in this capacity his personal inspection of the irrigation system in Nevada will prove beneficial to the residents of the lands there," said United States Senator Newlands yesterday in discussing the approaching visit of Secretary of the Interior Garfield to this state.

"The farmers' charge," added the Senator, "that the engineers made contracts with them providing that they should give up their canals for perpetual water rights when the government service is ready, will be thoroughly investigated. Mr. Garfield will visit the other places in this state that are under federal control. I will not make the trip to Pyramid or Carson with him, but will go to Fallon."

Mr. Garfield will be the guest of Senator Newlands here for two days. The two chief purposes of the secretary's tour of Nevada, Senator Newlands said, were the investigation of the charges made by the farmers of Churchill county that they are being unjustly taxed 40 cents an acre a year for canal maintenance; and to ascertain the extent of damage done by floods during the last winter.

Arrangements for the entertainment of Secretary Garfield are being made by the Nevada Commercial League, and it is probable that the business men's organization here will give him a banquet. He will arrive on July 28.

OPERA COMPANY GIVES 'GIROFLE-GIROFLA' WELL

The Beggar Prince Opera Company at the Hippodrome gave an excellent performance of "Girofle-Girofla" last night. The cast was one which carried well the various roles and the singing was up to the high standard set by the company during their engagement here. Miss Edna Balch as Girofle made a hit in her drinking pantomime and drinking song, which was handled with much original and clever acting. Charles Huntington and Vivian Forrest as the parents are good comedians.

The performance will be repeated this evening, the bill for Sunday evening being "The Mascot."

FRANK GOLDEN TO BUILD BIG APARTMENT HOUSE

Frank Golden is planning to build a five-story fire-proof apartment house on the quarter block bounded by Mill, State and South Center streets. He said yesterday the work would begin early next year.

The architect is to design a modern building for the lot, the dimensions of which are 100x150 feet. The property was bought six months ago for $15,000 from D. C. Wheeler.

DRILLING CONTEST AT LOVELOCK THURSDAY

The Fourth was celebrated in a very quiet manner in Lovelock, despite the fact that all the farming communities and mining camps in the county sent large delegations.

The chief interest was centered in a rock-drilling contest. A team from Seven Troughs perforated thirty-three inches of hard granite in 15 minutes. The losing team was only an inch to the bad and would have won out if one of the sledges had not broken.

Two minor incidents were the running over and killing of an Indian in a horse race and the rescue by a cowboy with his lariat of an intoxicated gentleman who fell off the river bridge into the raging Humboldt.

LITTLE GIRL'S PAINFUL WOUND

While little Birdsall Gray of West First street was at play yesterday morning in the front yard of her parents' home she jumped on the points of the upturned teeth of a garden rake, one of which penetrated the sole of her foot. The wound is not dangerous.

GET ANOTHER PHONE CONCERN SAYS CAFFREY

City Electrician Declares New Franchise Only Relief for Instrument Shortage

"Orders for 30 telephones remain unfulfilled by the Pacific States Company here," stated City Electrician Caffrey yesterday. "Business houses even are unsupplied with service. There seems to be no relief through ordinary means, so I will suggest to the city council at the meeting Monday night that another corporation be given a franchise to operate in Reno.

"The telephone management here tells the residents who apply for connections that there is no chance to get service. Applicants are shown the waiting list, and when an instrument is removed from a home the plug in the keyboard is used by some merchant."

The city electrician said he has received complaints from people that they have been refused telephonic service for three months. He stated the only relief is to give another corporation a permit to install a system.

HAD LIVED IN RENO TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

Death of Mrs. Sunta Masoni, Well Known in Italian Community.

Mrs. Sunta Masoni, who had been a resident of this city for 25 years, died early yesterday morning, aged 65. Mrs. Masoni was well known to the Italian colony here, and hundreds of her countrymen are preparing to attend the funeral today at two o'clock. She had been living with her daughter, Mrs. Peter Questa, 431 Church lane.

NO SOUTHSIDE RAILROAD WAR

Interurban and Reno Development Companies Are Arranging for the Use of Track.

NEWLANDS DENIES MERGER

Economy of Operations and Better Service, the Senator Declares, Will Result.

The threatened war between the Interurban Railroad Company and the Reno Development Company for business on the Southside, where the two electric lines are being constructed, is about to be settled. The Development company is atempting to make traffic arrangements with the Interurban allowing the cars on the former road to traverse the tracks of the later. This, according to Senator Newlands, will make the operation of the lines more economical, and at the same time give better service.

"The negotiations pending," said the Senator, "will permit the Interurban's cars to run out of the city on its own rails, and come in on the rails laid by the Development company. Cars and equipment, then, will be a necessary purchase for only the Interurban."

The construction of the two railroads on the Southside, the residents there predicted, would eventually result in some arrangement similar at least to the one mentioned by Senator Newlands.

"But the prophesied merger has not taken place, nor is one contemplated," said the Senator.

SAYS OLD BOARD SHOULD BE SUED

Municipal Attorney King Says Former Councilmen Were Negligent About New City Hall.

NOT PARALLEL WITH STREET

Three Feet Difference Between the Southeast and Southwest Corners of Building.

"I think the council members who were responsible for the acceptance of the city hall as it stands, out of line with the street, and set cornerwise on the lot here, should be sued for their negligence," said Frank D. King, city attorney, yesterday, when he had finished watching the cement workers set the lines, after the distances and corner marks had been given them by the engineering department. King, who was once a land surveyor, noted that a line drawn according to the correct boundaries of the street was 14 feet from the building at the southeast corner and 17 feet at the southwest.

The inspection of the city hall preliminary to acceptance was made during a recess of the old council a few days before the last city election. The discrepancy between the street lines and those of the building was not then noticed.

LONGEST POWER LINE IN WORLD

Nevada Corporation Will Surpass Niagara With the Mountain Streams of the Sierras.

FROM ALPINE'S HILLS TO ELY.

Immense Reservior Will Be Built, Company's Officials Say, Within Ten Years.

Generation and transmission of electric power from the waters of Niagara have hitherto held the world's record, but this achievement will, it is promised, shortly be eclipsed by a powerful corporation which is operating in Nevada and in the border California counties.

The California-Nevada Electric Power Company has entered upon a campaign which means the expenditure of $15,000,000, the transmission of the highest voltage in the world and over a longer line.

R. E. Maynard, vice-president of the company, and H. A. Lemmon, who has charge of one of the departments of construction work, spent yesterday in this city. They report that the company has already expended $250,000 in the purchase of reservoir sites and now owns more than one-third of the taxable land in Alpine county.

Eight splendid power sites have already been secured, including Hope and Fish valleys, which will be converted into immense reservoirs, so large that the power plants can be operated for five months without a single drop of water coming into the reservoirs.

Four surveying parties and one construction crew are now actively engaged. As the season advances and the preliminary work is completed, more men will be put to work.

The power to be generated will be conveyed as far as to Ely, Nevada, the longest transmission line in the world, and unique in another point, in that it will carry the largest voltage, 100,000 volts.

Within the next 10 years the company expects to expend $15,000,000, and will then possess the most elaborate electrical generating and transmission plant in the world. Power will be sold so cheap, the officials say, that it will be possible to establish industries of every sort in the state.

Let's Get Rid of Maxson

WE MAKE the proposition seriously. We believe that the best interests of the public school system of Reno require that the blight of bossism by a professional politician be lifted from over the board of trustees. We believe that it is an affront to any American community to have a politician holding a place of such partisan prominence as Maxson holds, to be virtually the master of that community's educational system; to be in a position to dictate the filling of the offices of instructor, and to be in a position to dictate the expenditure of the great sum which is annually appropriated for the maintenance of the schools. Therefore, we say, in all seriousness, let's get rid of Maxson, so far as his place as boss of the school board is concerned.

If Col. Maxson had any especial qualifications for the office which he holds, the demand for his removal might not be so emphatic. If he had it in him to sink his personal animosities for the good of the schools of Reno, the demand might be tempered a little. Had Col. Maxson ever been chosen by the taxpayers of the city to occupy the office he holds the demand that his wings be clipped, and what may be termed his "pernicious activities" be stifled, could not be properly lodged.

But none of these considerations restrain us in this case. Col. Maxson has never been elected a member of the school board. Although he is serving his second term he is a member by appointment, and the people who support the schools have never been given an opportunity to express their opinion of his fitness or capabilities for properly filling the office. That his appointment to the board on two separate occasions have been solely due to the "pull" he was able to exercise by virtue of his place in the Republican state organization cannot be gainsaid. That he is without especial qualifications for the office is a certainty. That he is one who lets considerations of partisan politics rise superior to his duty to the community is pretty well understood. The work of the board which he dominates has, during the past week, demonstrated this last fact.

There is no story which has been told by any of the majority members of the board, in regard to the dropping of six veteran teachers from the list of next year's instructors, that hangs together. Contradiction after contradiction follow when these majority members endeavor to explain an act which was in direct harmony with Maxson's threats to "get even" with the teachers who were last year active in the moral quarantine which was raised against the attempt of Cafferata, proprietor of the Second street dump, to break into the legislature. And out of the furore which has been raised over the action of Monday evening's meeting of the board issues the vile odors of partisan politics, and petty personal animosities. And at the bottom of it all is Maxson.

Now, about this man Maxson as a member of the school board. That he bosses that body, through his domination of the majority members, as completely as ever a politician bossed his gang, is a certainty. And under the Maxson boss regime the schools of Reno have been most flagrantly mismanaged. We will cite specific instances.

A school furniture bill has laid unpaid for three years. The schools are being run on a basis of expenditure which is six months in advance of appropriations, and they will be able to open in the fall, if the board does its duty and pays its debts, only by the board borrowing money to tide it over until the next semi-annual appropriation is received. The board wilfully withheld from the taxpayers, when seeking permission to pay off $10,000 of floating indebtedness from the proceeds of the last bond sale, that instead of owing only $10,000, it owed actually $15,000. Maxson has declared in meetings of the board of trustees that it was better for the board that such facts as these be "kept dark."

Nor are these all of Maxson's flagrancies. He acts outside of the law, and without the authority of the board. The call for last year's teachers, and other applicants, to file their credentials for the farce of voting which was enacted Monday evening, was issued without the authority of the board. Maxson, and one other member of the board, took it upon themselves to issue this call, and to say that the election should be held on Monday evening. In the same arbitrary, dictatorial manner, and without considering the wishes of the board, Maxson caused the Plaza school to be moved. When the removal of the school was being fought by the independent members of the board because it was believed that by retaining it on the Plaza the opening of the Second street dump could be prevented under the statutes, Maxson was a champion of removal. And then, growing weary of fighting Cafferata's battles, he took it upon himself, at a time when the board was not in session, to move the school. The act was without the authority of the board, and when independent members protested, Maxson insolently asked: "What the hell are you going to do about it?" Within the last few weeks Maxson endeavored to get members of the board to consent, without being called into regular session, to dispose of the bond issue to a certain bank. He button-holed members of the board on street corners, and asked their permission to close the deal for the bond sale, leaving it to some future meeting to ratify the action.

And it is a matter of record that he endeavored to have his salary as clerk of the board raised by a scheme of remuneration that would have fastened upon the city one of the neatest grafts imaginable. Going to Carson while the legislature was in session, he got Senator Boyd to introduce a bill stipulating that the clerk of the Reno school board should be remunerated for his services on the basis of $5 a month for each teacher employed in the schools. At that time he represented that his action had the approval of the trustees. Under the bill Maxson's salary would have been boosted from $25 a month to $180 a month, 36 teachers being then employed. And with the erection and commissioning of the proposed new school buildings, it would have gone quickly to something like $300 a month. Senator Boyd learned promptly that this particular Maxsonian scheme for fattening upon the taxpayers did not have the approval of the Reno trustees, and as promptly withdrew the bill.

These are a few specimens of the Maxson way of administering the affairs of the Reno public schools.

Let's get rid of him.

It can be done. The Journal has suggested that women, who are clearly eligible under the state constitution, be placed on the school board. The plan suggested has met with general and hearty approval. District Attorney Moran, who is, also, Superintendent of Schools, is pledged by an interview in this morning's Journal, to appoint women to such vacancies as may be created by the resignation of present members of the board. Three members of this board are willing to retire.

If the mothers of the city will take the matter up, it will be possible, before the next school year begins, to have three members of the board appointed from their own ranks. With this change in the board Maxson's activity as a member of the school board may be restricted to a vote cast with the minority. To expect that he will resign is too much. "Few die and none resign," said old Simon Cameron, in speaking of officeholders of the Maxson type.

But in the manner suggested, we can, to all intents and purposes, get rid of Maxson.

Let's do it.

Will the mothers of the city make answer to this suggestion by early and positive action?

A Word of Farewell

AS ANNOUNCED in the issue of July 2d, The Nevada State Journal is now being published under new management. The announcement came with almost as much surprise to the owners of the property as it did to the public, and this fact, coupled with the press of business incident to the transfer of the control, has prevented the retiring management from making the announcement that we feel is due both to our successors and to the public.

In surrendering the columns that for the past six years we have controlled, we do so with the full confidence that our successors will at least maintain the standard it has been our endeavor to attain.

We desire to thank a generous public for the support we have received and which has made it possible for us to give to Reno and the state such a paper as The Nevada State Journal. We confess to a feeling of regret in giving over to other, though perhaps more efficient and competent hands than ours, the task of guiding the future policy of The Journal. Although the task has been no light one, we have felt that while we have made mistakes, our honesty of purpose has never been questioned, however much we were in error, and that at least we have the respect of such enemies as we have made or of those whom we have felt it our duty to criticize and restrain.

In the years it has been our pleasant duty to record the daily life and progress of Reno and the state of Nevada, many remarkable changes have taken place. The city has grown from a straggling village of 4,000 or 5,000 people to a metropolitan city of at least 16,000, and yet its growth has only begun. Likewise in the state, The Journal has chronicled the discovery of precious metal in remote sections that have given it world-wide prominence and necessitated the building of railroads and populous cities in what was, but a few short years ago, a desert waste. And we believe that it will fall to the lot of our successors to record even more wonderful advancements in the next few years, and, further, that they are fully alive to the possibilities and equal to the task of carrying forward the work we only begun.

Mr. Teague, the new editor, is a newspaper man of wide experience. In 20 years he has come up through the various grades of reportorial and editorial positions until his name is familiar to newspaper and magazine readers throughout the country. His long connection, as political editor and traveling correspondent for the Baltimore American, gave him an acquaintance with men and affairs that is only obtainable by a newspaper man who is strenuously active. His association with the Philadelphia North American was characterized by notable success in his undertakings, and his connection with American magazines has been conspicuous.

B. S. Bethel, who is associated with Mr. Teague in the management of the paper, has had a good newspaper training, and is fully alive to the best newspaper requirements, and the ways of attaining them. As a member of the staff of the Denver Post, Mrs. Bethel aided in re-establishing that paper on a plane of exceptional prosperity after it had for a long period been under suspension of publication.

We earnestly bespeak for the new management the unwavering support that has been ours during the past six years, and the kindly consideration of our city and state contemporaries, believing as we do that, so far as it is possible to, they will carry out the policies enunciated in their salutary of July 2d.

Many improvements are contemplated for the betterment of the equipment and news service. These will enure to the benefit of our present subscribers, and cannot fail to attract many new ones, and redound to the credit of The Nevada State Journal, making it in reality what it has been the dream of the former management in time to accomplish.

E. L. BINGHAM,
Manager for The Nevada State Journal, Inc.

ONE OF THE BEST IN THE STATE

B. S. Bethel and Merrill A. Teague have leased the Reno Journal for one year commencing with this morning's issue. The Journal is one of the best papers in the state and under the former management has probably done more for the upbuilding of Reno than any other one thing. May it continue to prosper under the new management.—Carson Appeal.

What Is a Check?

A check is merely a signed order on your banker to pay to a designated person or firm, or their order, the amount stated in the check. As long as you have that amount, or more, to your credit the banker will honor your check—pay it—and charge the amount against your account. When your bank book is balanced the cancelled check will be returned to you; giving you a full record of the transaction and a legal receipt for the money paid.

Every man and woman having an income should have a bank account—it is the systematic and business-like way for caring for an income. There are many advantages and no expense when you bank here—we furnish check and pass books free.

Morning Game.

Reno	8
Carson	8

Afternoon Game.

Goldfield	7
Carson	4

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

CARSON CITY, July 5.—At the end of seven innings of spirited ball playing this morning the score of the Reno-Carson game was eight to eight. By agreement the captains arranged to stop the interesting contest two spasms sooner than the rules provide, and when time was called at 1 o'clock, the honors were even.

Morrell pitched for Reno and Brown for Carson. Their clever work was the cause of much applause from the bleacherites.

Yeazell Injured.

Yeazell, the slab man for the Capitals, received an injury during the afternon game that put him out of the running, and Brown, who worked fourteen innings yesterday and seven this morning, went to pices as soon as he replaced the victim of the grounder.

Yeazell lay on the side lines and watched his substitute give way, and the runs pile up. When the swatfest closed the score read Goldfield 7, Carson 4.

Umpire Kelley of Reno was subjected to much criticism during the afternoon game. Some of the decisions were bad even for an outlaw league. President Powers may have something to worry about if the matter is brought up in a directors' meeting.

Goldfield will play in Reno with the Riversides tomorrow and Sunday.

THREW HIS BAT AT THE UMPIRE IN LOS ANGELES

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, July 5.—Portland defeated Los Angeles today in an exciting game. Nagle was hit hard, while Hartman and Kinsella kept the hits scattered. Atherton had a third strike called on him in the sixth inning and became so angry that he threw the bat at the umpire. He was ordered off the field. Dillion argued a decision in the fifth and was ordered off the field and fined. Nagle made a two-bagger and a three-bagger. Score:

AMERICAN GIRL CHAMPION OF BRITISH TENNIS

LONDON, July 5.—An American girl is again the British tennis champion. In the all-England tennis championship ladies' singles at Wimbledon this afternoon, May Sutton of California defeated Mrs. Chambers in the championship round and thus won back the title of British champion, of which she was deprived last year by Mrs. Chambers, then Miss Douglass.

The American won easily by 2-6. The score was 6-1, 6-4.

Miss Sutton received a remarkable ovation from the crowds in the stands. The band struck up "See the Conquering Hero Comes"; the committee presented the American girl with a huge bouquet of flowers and there were loud calls for a speech. Miss Sutton, however, was overcome by the warmth with which her victory was greeted and was only able to say:

"I have won twice and I am going to win a third time."

RENO CLUB IS VICTOR AT THE TRAP-SHOOTING

Reno, represented by the Riverside Gun Club, won the state trophy in the blue rock shoot at Carson City on the Fourth.

The scores made were: Riverside, 189; Carson City, 187; Gardnerville, 179. In addition to winning the trophy Reno received first cash prize of $75. The second cash prize, $25, went to Carson City.

Mr. Holling, representing a powder company, gave an exhibition of blue rock shooting, breaking 67 out of 70. Another shoot between the three teams will take place in Reno a week from next Sunday.

T. R. NEEDHAM ENTHUSIASTIC

Holds Three Year Lease on Harris Group of Four Claims and Is Working.

DEVELOPING SILVER LEDGE

Believes District Including the Comstock and Rocky Hills Best in State.

After facing many winters of rigorous polar weather, being buffeted by angry seas and scorched by the fierce sun and wind of some of the southern deserts in the "fierce race for wealth," T. R. Needham, newspaper man of the old school, and miner by turns, has cast his lot in with those who are leasing on the Harris property, and is very well satisfied with his chances for wealth.

"We have a three years' lease on four claims of the Harris group," said Mr. Needham last evening, "and are operating 200 feet to the north of the Harris workings, with what I consider a splendid chance of developing a big paying proposition."

A Peculiar Condition.

"One very peculiar thing about the ledge we are sinking on, is the fact that while the ledge the Harris workings are in is high in gold values, ours, which parallels it at that short distance, returns assays in which silver is the predominating metal, and gold the least. Our assays show all the way from $38 to $157 in silver, as against a few cents in the more precious metal. However, I think that when we attain greater depth, we will find a different character of ore. We are only down about 30 feet.

Good Grounds for Belief.

"There are five other properties in the immediate vicinity all of which are undergoing active development, and I am of the belief that that whole section is likely to develop into a bigger thing than the Goldfield district has so far shown. This may seem like a stretch of the immagination, but the whole country, including the Comstock lode and the Rocky Hills property, together with the trend and volume of the known ledges are studied carefully it will be seen that I have something more than mere guess work on which to base this belief.

Plans for Milling.

"When the returns are seen from the Denver smelter, where the shipment is about to be sent from the Harris mine, a mill will be decided upon, and this will be built in such a position as to receive the ore from the Harris workings on one track, and that from ours on the other, and, as this is to be so handy, it will be seen that we will be in a position to work very low grade ore, comparatively speaking, if we do not get better, and that at a profit. By low grade ore, I mean ore that will go say $10 a ton. We think we will have very much better than this, however, estimating conservatively."

Mr. Needham left for the east last night, where he goes on business connected with his mining interests, and will return in a few weeks, when he expects to increase very materially the force of men now at work on the leases.

SENATOR DOUGLASS ON CHURCHILL CONDITIONS

Senator R. L. Douglas, on his way home to Fallon from Carson, stopped in Reno yesterday, and is authority for the statement that the mining industry of Churchill county is more robust today than it was a couple of years since.

"The weather has not yet got so warm as to keep the prospectors out, and Fairview has more people than it had a year since, and Wonder, at that time was little more than a name, and the name was not well enough known to attract any atention. The latter has grown into a thriving and populous camp.

Fallon is also a thriving town, not so lively, perhaps, as it would have been had there been no high water this spring to interfere with the farmers' crops, but still it is a good town."

NEVADA COMMONWEALTH INSTALLING NEW PLANT

The Nevada Commonwealth Mining Company of Galena, 15 miles south of this city, will at once install another process in addition to its present 250 ton capacity mill. The new works will be for the separation of gold, silver, arsenic and zinc from the black jack tailings that pass from the main mill.

The new process will separate by means of specific gravity, and will treat 250 tons daily. The plant will cost $50,000. As soon as it is installed and in working order the company hopes to begin paying dividends.

Rollo E. Clapp expects to leave for the east in a day or two to arrange for the shipment of the plant.

If you haven't the time to exercise regularly, Doan's Regulets will prevent constipation. They induce a mild, easy, healthful action of the bowels without griping. Ask your druggist for them. 25c. 15

TELLURIUM DISCOVERED IN THANKSGIVING MINE

The Report of Strike Includes Statement That It Is Most Important Yet Made in the Camp of Manhattan

Tellurium ore has been struck in the Thanksgiving in the west drift at the 230-foot level. The ore that is being broken down is all sacked without sorting and is the richest yet taken from any property in this camp.

Percy Train made assays and analyses of the ore and when he announced the results stated that the ore was tellurium and that the discovery was the most important made since the camp came into existence.

"We'll beat Goldfield and Cripple Creek," said the assayer, who is usually a cold-blooded calculator of rock values. "In Cripple Creek, where they had such ore, they have sunk on it 1,400 feet and are still getting the big values.

"The Thanksgiving tellurium appears in blotches on the black-bluish quartz. It is either a calaverite or krunnerite, which are both tellurides of gold with no silver present."

A sample assayed for the purpose of determining the value of the poorest looking ore in the drift gave returns of $190.

The new plant is about ready for steam to be turned on.

It will be but a few days when the 50-horse-power hoist will be speeding the work in the rich ore chambers below which mean so much for Thanksgiving stockholders and the camp of Manhattan.

President Stanley said the policy of the company would be to push work, with all possible rapidity, blocking out and exploring the deeper levels.

The mill which is being erected by the Manhattan Ore Reduction and Refining company will be just below the Thanksgiving dumps. The ores especially from mines near Mustang hill can be handled by gravity from the time the ore leaves the mouth of the shafts until its gold contents run into bars.—Mail.

DAGO GROUP OF RAMSEY SCENE OF GREAT STRIKE

Work on These Properties Has Brought Rich Teturns to the Owners Who Are Well Satisfied

They have certainly struck it rich on Dago No. 1.

Right at the back door of the town: in fact within the townsite, they are knocking off ore from an outcrop, the float of which is scattered through Ramsey's streets, and are getting great strings of bright, yellow gold.

Dago No. 1 is included in the holdings of the Ramsey Consolidated Mining Company. The great dyke, which is one of the wonders of this rich district and which is under development on Dago No. 2, outcrops again on Dago No. 1. Towering up 40 feet in the air, 100 feet or more wide and 500 feet long, it is proven a great quarry of rich, free milling ore.

Many Tests Prove Values.

On the hanging wall side of the dyke the free gold ore has been sampled and test after test produces fine results. They are just as sure of finding gold as it is possible to be. Over an area 40 feet in width the ore is taken and unerring results are obtained. Such a thing as a skunk is never known and on the other side of this wide belt of shipping ore it is all a high milling grade.

Shaft to Be Sunk.

Men are at work running an open cut through the west end of the dyke and from the very first stroke of the pick the ore has shown rich. Superintendent B. Ramsey has already selected the spot where a shaft will be sunk and is pushing arrangements to open up the big bay shoot at depth. In a short while apparatus will be installed on the little hill overlooking the town, a big force of men will be employed and high grade will be dumped on the city streets.

This rich strike of high grade surface ore following so closely on the heels of many others has created the most intense interest here, together with a most optimistic feeling. To those unacquainted with this district it should be explained this mine is located on the middle mineral belt, widely separated and distinct from that of the Ramsey-Comstock, Walkover, Bonanza, Ophir and north belt mines. It is now proven that along this strongly mineralized belt there are ledges rich from the grass roots, that the numerous dykes along this course have every likelihood of carrying high values and that this basin is one of the greatest mineral zones in the States of Nevada.

It would be hard to find a beter pair of claims than the Dago No. 1 and Dago No. 2.

Many Cross Fissures.

Across the ravine on the southwest is Dago No. 2. This ground with its wonderful dyke is nothing less than a mountain of ore, all of milling grade interlaid with rich ore shoots and contains a surprising number of par- and cross fissures.

The shaft on Dago No. 2 was started out in the country rock and below the hanging wall of the big ledge. A 12 foot cross fissure carrying gold values up to $2,000 was uncovered with it at 150 feet and parallel fissures from one to three feet wide have been cut, carrying values from $20 to $50 in gold, silver and copper.

Below Water Level.

A depth of 290 feet is now obtained in the shaft, which brings the workings below water level. It is getting very close to the hanging wall of the main ledge and when the 300 foot level is reached which will occur some day next week, a crosscut will be started that will be driven on through to the foot wall.

Great hings are expected and reasonably enough. There are known surface ore shoots that are rich. Numbers of them. Some very high assays have been secured and good pannings also. It is a great, strong dyke; well mineralized and there seems every reason to expect some extensive and rich veins will show between its walls. This is a critical period at the Ramsey Consolidated mine.—Ramsey Recorder.

Many Traveled Over Manhattan Ground

Nearly two score years ago, when Belmont was a thriving, hustling, representaive mining camp, of the then wild and wooly west, and San Antone was known as a stage station and the milling place for the Galena mine, then a famous producer of Smokey valley, people traveled by stage through a country in which little interest was centered as a mining region. The road at that time led from Belmont to Sodaville, or Soda Springs, as it was called up to a comparatively recent date, when the advent of a railroad changed many names.

This old stage road lay directly through what is now the main street of Manhattan, in the midst of a canyon, and it is certain that not one of those who traveled that way, and there were thousands, ever suspected the fact that they were traveling over ground, every inch of which was destined to become of great value.

It remained for Johnny Humphry to make the first discovery of gold in the Manhattan canyon, which led to later discoveries, and at last to the establishing of the present thriving camp. Humphry, whose home lay in the Peavine range on the opposite side of Smokey valley, was riding in that district one hot afternoon, looking for sundry fat beef cattle whose flanks bore the marks of the Humphry iron, and traveling down the old stage road through the Manhattan canyon, he drew rein beside the inviting shade of a small bull pine, and throwing the bridle reins over his horse's head, was soon lying at full length in the grateful shade mopping his face and thinking of the long hot ride between himself and home. After a time he began idly picking up the loose particles of rock, and noting their appearance, and while doing so one of them caught his eye, and he examined it more closely. He rubbed his eyes and looked again. Then he spat on the rock, and under the clearing influence of the saliva, he saw that he was not mistaken, but that the small piece of float he held in his hand contained free gold, and before he hal left the shade of the tree he had found several other similar pieces, all showing the yellow metal.

This discovery led the Humphry's to grubstake a prospector and send him into the district, and from that time on the history of Manhattan is well known to the world.

Silver Ore of Value Found in new District

Two sacks of ruby silver that runs from 100 to 500 ounces to the ton were brought in Saturday by Messrs. Kopenhaver, Meissner and Cochrane from the Toyabe district, which is the name given the new country at the head of Reese river, where sensational discoveries were made some few weeks ago. The three men have been diligently working out there for two months and had done considerable development before they announced their find to the world. A stampede followed, with the result that number of Manhattan prospectors have located good ground there, and are preparing for extensive development.

Most of the work done by Kopenhaver, Meissner and Cochrane was that required by the law (the location work), and it was while in pursuit of this work that the men began sacking the ore.

Mr. Kopenhaver, when seen by a representative of the Mail, stated that the Superior Consolidated Mining Company, which owns ground at Superior, had taken over nine claims which constitute the original discovery and would actively develop its holdings. The company, having disposed of a goodly amount of stock, has ample funds in the treasury to prosecute the work. W. O. Pray of Manhattan is the general manager of the company and will have charge of the operations. It is the intention to put a force of men to work on the property immediately after July 4.—Mail.

WONDER LEASES MAKE STRIKES

Adjoining Holdings in Spider & Wasp Ground Make Discoveries on Same Ledge.

FOUND ON 75 FOOT LEVEL.

Toohey Lease Looking Well and Big Shipment Is Planned for Near Future.

Two strikes of much importance have been reported to the Wonder office of the Spider & Wasp Mining Company of that camp. Perhaps the two strikes might be better described as one, as they are on the same ledge, and occur on adjoining ground, that of leases seven and eight.

Both leases are being operated by the Spider & Wasp Leasing Company, and the strike reported was made on the 75 foot level.

The new discovery is a sulphide, and is said to carry very high values in both gold and silver, the former metal being in a free state, and visable to a great extent in the samples shown.

The Toohey lease, owned by the Wonder Mining & Milling Company, is also reported to be in pay ore of much value. This ground is being worked through a tunnel, and it is reported that a large shipment of ore will be made in the near future.

General Manager Alec Johnson of the Spider & Wasp Company, is reported as saying that the mine proper of this company is to begin vigorous development in the near future, this work having been more or less delayed by the non-arrival, so far of the new 40 horsepower gasoline hoist. Two shifts are now at work in the vertical shaft, and the same number in the incline. Sinking on the vertical shaft is to be continued, under the present plans until the 500 foot level is reached, and crosscuts will be run every 100 feet. The vertical shaft is now down 65 feet, and the incline 45 feet. The first crosscut in the incline will be made at the 50 foot level.

SECOND PAYMENT IS MADE FOR A GROUP

Monday the Sonoma Mining & Milling Company made the second payment, a sum well up in four figures, on the group of claims five miles east of town which it recently purchased from Chris Deiss and I. Sigmund.

Since acquiring the property the company, under the superintendency of B. C. Williams, has done a large amount of development work with most flatering results. Large bodies of ore carrying good values in gold, silver and copper have been opened up and the merit of the property has been fully proved. The plans for the future operation of a large milling plant and the building of an ore carrying tramway, besides the opening up of the company's mines on a scale commensurate with the value of the property. Situated as they are, only a few miles from Winnemucca, the work now being done and the larger operations contemplated mean a great deal for this town.

That the company means business is amply shown in the prompt manner in which it has met its payments on the purchase price of the property.—Silver State.

DEAL FOR LYDA VALLEY COPPER AND SILVER

According to a Goldfield report, Colonel O. P. Posey and John R. Searles of the Nevada Copper Mining & Smelting Company, are about to close a deal whereby they will become the the controllers of 14 claims in Lida Valley mining district, seven miles from Lida. The present owners of the property are E. F. Lowery of Rhyolite, and Rube Ryder of Goldfield, both of whom are well known throughout the mining world of the state as practical miners and prospectors.

The property which is about to change hands was located several months since by the present owners, since when they have done much prospecting on it, and have succeeded in opening up a ledge between porphyry and lime which is said to carry some very fine values in silver and copper.

BARRETT SPRINGS STRIKE.

From Winnemucca comes word of a new strike, northwest of that town at a place called Barrett Springs. The discovery was made by Jackson, Ellis, Walters and Smith, and some of the samples brought to Winnemucca, when panned showed an amount of free gold warranting development work.

PLACER FOUND NEAR HAWTHORNE YESTERDAY

HAWTHORNE, Nev., July 5.

A strike of placer gold was made here today which has caused considerable excitement, and sent a large part of the population out on Tupman creek to stake claims and prospect the ground in the vicinity of the strike.

The ground panned for over 500 feet shows 30 cents to the pan, and at one point covering about 60 feet the pans taken show an average of something beter than 60 cents.

The discovery was made on Tupman creek in Horse Thief canyon and a good stream of water is very convenient to the placer ground discovered.

It is understood that options at good figures have already been taken on some of the claims staked.

PROFIT-TAKING IN WALL STREET

Fair Demand at Opening Dulled by Sales But Subsequently Prices Rally.

EASIER TONE IN AFTERNOON

American Smelting and Some Western Railways Recover Slightly in Otherwise Stationary Close.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Prices advanced in the opening dealings on fair demand, which was well distributed through the list. Amalgamated Copper was carried up 1 3-8, Union Pacific 1 5-8, St. Paul, Canadian Pacific, Great Northern ore certificates and Rubber preferred 1 and Northern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Reading, American Smelting and Anaconda large fractions.

The advance inaugurated at the opening had not proceeded far before the profit-taking sales became numerous and the entire market fell back sharply. Business quieted down but there was a subsequent rally which brought prices to the opening level or beyond. Big Four, National Biscuit gained 1 3-4, Anaconda 1 1-4 and Great Northern preferred, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, Erie first preferred, Illinois Central, Sugar, United States Rubber first preferred 1.

Prices advanced slowly with business much congested in a few stocks. Northern Pacific rose 1 5-8, Consolidated Gas, Erie second preferred, Cotton Oil and Pacific Mail 1 1-2, and Denver & Rio Grande, Colorado Southern, New York Central, Virginia Iron, International Paper preferred and International Mercantile Marine preferred 1. General Chemical preferred sold at a decline of 1.

A somewhat easier tone arose in the late afternoon but prices remained stationary. American Smelting made a recovery of 2, Minneapolis & St. Louis also moved up 1, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha and Chicago Great Western preferred 4 1-2.

Money on call was sensibly easier today. The speculation was inclined evidently to assume a prospect of more abundant funds in the money market. A recovery in foreign exchange rates today served to call attention to the possibility of renewed demand from abroad for our gold supply. London sent some gold to Paris today but international exchange bankers here would not be surprised to see more go from here to Paris next week. There were transfers today through the subtreasury of $600,000 to San Francisco.

HAYWOOD WITNESS MAN WHO SENT LETTER THAT ORCHARD SAID CAME FROM PETTIBONE

(Concluded from Page One)

Judge Fremont Wood has asked counsel on both sides to submit their requests for instructions to the jury. In adjourning court this afternoon until next Monday morning Judge Wood said that he hoped that the interval would be utilized by counsel in preparations that would prevent further delay.

Juror Causes a Laugh.

Some of the jurors are tired. Juror S. F. Russell asked the court today to allow them to exercise during the two days' adjournment, and Juror Burns complained that the bailiffs in charge of the jury were too strict—that any member who exceeded some trivial rule was summarily called to order. Juror J. A. Robertson, the good-humored Scotchman occupying the ninth chair, defended the bailiffs, and said, laughingly:

"Well, I don't know about being too strict. I know I never had a better time in my life."

The announcement was received with roars of merriment and Judge Wood, who seldom joins in any demonstrations, leaned back in his chair and laughed heartily.

A Legless Miner Testifies.

The five witnesses on the stand this morning added support to those who have preceded them. They were called to testify concerning conditions existing in Colorado during the disturbances in Cripple Creek and to show that there was no reason to call out the militia.

Orchard was further discredited by Owen Barnes, a legless miner living near the Independence mine, who, Orchard had said, assisted him in the manufacture of bombs. Barnes said he knew Orchard, Adams and Easterly and others, but flatly denied that he ever planned or discussed any criminal expedition with Orchard.

The Pettibone Letter.

The mysterious registered letter sent from Denver to San Francisco and which Orchard swore contained five $20 bills, sent to him by George A. Pettibone, signing himself as "J. Wolff," was explained by Jacob Wolff, a witness who said he was formerly financial clerk for Pettibone. In his statement on the stand, Orchard swore that when he was in San Francisco on the Bradley killing expedition, he sent to Pettibone for money, which he received in a registered letter containing five 20-dollar bills. He said the letter was signed "J. Wolff," and the state intimated that this was a name under which Pettibone passed. The witness today swore that he had sent Orchard no money but that he had sent a registered letter to Orchard as "Jack Dempsey," addressed to him in San Francisco.

Union Card and a Charm.

"Mr. Pettibone was in the store opening his mail one day," said Wolff, "and after reading one of the letters he said to me ——" The state objected to what Pettibone said and was sustained. Then the witness said he saw Pettibone open and read a letter and later he went to the postoffice and registered a letter for Pettibone.

"What was put into the letter?"

"A union card and a Masonic charm."

"That's the last you saw of the letter?"

"Yes sir."

There was no cross-examination.

A. W. Moore told of mailing in Nome a letter for Orchard to Mrs. Harry Orchard in Colorado. Orchard, Moore, said, had told him he wanted to get rid of "that woman."

Exiled for College Debate.

Archie Lester Harper, a young man just admitted to the bar in Denver, told of being arrested, in Victor, Colo., the day following the Independence depot explosion.

"What for?" asked Darrow.

"I was told I had talked too much in a college debate at the state university at Boulder. The question being debated was, 'Resolved, That the calling of the military in Cripple Creek was uncalled for and unwarranted.' I was on the affirmative."

Harper said he was taken into custody by two "whitecappers." Major Naylor, of the militia, whom the witness knew, happened along and ordered his release but refused to have his white masked men arrested as Harper says he demanded.

Owned a Looted Store.

The witness was told his father, John Harper, who had been manager of the union store at Victor, had been deported to Canon City. Young Harper and his companion walked to Canon City and found the elder Harper there, his head cut and bleeding.

John Harper followed his son on the stand and related his experiences during the strike period at length.

When court opened this afternoon John Harper was recalled to the stand. Harper was cross-examined by Senator Borah. He was asked only a few questions as to his own experiences during the troubles following the blowing up of the Independence depot when he was under arrest and his store looted.

"Clapped Into Jail."

J. A. Houttan, a miner of Canon City, Colo., was called to show that he was arrested during the troubles at Victor and that the first question asked him was whether he was a member or intended to support the Western Federation of Miners. He had replied that he was a member, and on that he was immediately "clappel into jail."

JUDGE PREVENTS WAR

Argument in the case of Nelson Chaffer and G. A. Pike, charged with the murder of Guard Murphy at the Derby dam, began in Judge Pike's court yesterday. The incident of moment was the belligerency of counsel. Mr. Shutter-Cottrell, who represents the defense, became angered at some remark by District Attorney Moran and offered to withdraw with the county atorney to the backyard and settle the mater with or without gloves. Judge Pike quieted the hostilities by threatening to send both lawyers to jail.

CARNIVAL ENDS IN ROLLICKING MOOD AND JOLLITY

QUEEN MARTHA PUT OUT BY KING OF HORRIBLES

Sovereign of the Goblins and His Comical Consort Reign at the End

(Special Dispatch to The Journal)

CARSON CITY, July 5.—"King dethroned Queen Martha tonight, Rex" Mackay and his court of revelers started the Mardi Gras ball, and kept alive the spirit of gaity until a late hour, when the tired carnival attendants departed for their homes, satisfied with the hospitality tendered them.

A Gorgeous Spectacle.

The close of the three-day fete was even more a gorgeous spectacle than the opening July 3, the crowd was jollier, and everyone seemed determined to get rid of a year's enthusiasm in the remaining few hours of the show.

Confetti was thrown by the younger set, and those able to procure automobiles rode through the streets with fire crackers tied to the rear of the machines, terrifying the pedestrians and creating a noise that stimulated the nerves of the worn-out crowd.

More "Horribles" Than Ever.

The parade during the earily part of the evening was compared by the throng to the "horribles" in the old-time Fourth, only this event was more horrible than anything ever seen in the memory of the spectators. Will U. Mackay, ex-mayor, and his queen, H. B. Van Ette, lead the way from Eagles' hall to the Capitol grounds. There the procession broke up, while the king, with the aid of a few loyal courtiers, ousted Miss Roberts from the seat of honor, and took on himself the responsibility of governing the remainder of the carnival.

King Mackay and His Queen.

Queen Van Etten was dressed in an extravagantly colored robe that was knee length, resembling the dress of a golf player in the days of Elizabeth I. Rex Mackay's coat looked like the celebrated garment that was placed in the muddy path by Sir Walter Raleigh.

Thousands caught the spirit of the Mardi Gras when King Mackay and his queen, Eagle Van Etten, lead the grand march in the hall. So much attention was paid to the antics of the sovereigns that notice was scarcely taken of Mayor Schmitz. Only a few know who dressed like the San Franciscan. He is F. Lund of Reno.

End of the Carnival.

There were other masques and other wearers worth mentioning, but the king and queen caught the popular fancy, and it is reported the efforts of the masqueraders to aid the show only helped the more to make the Mackay-Van Etten team more famous.

With regret at midnight the dancers left the open air pavilion, and started for the little suppers that had been arranged around town. The supper ended, the carnival came to a close, and Carson City settled back to the life it has known since the State house was constructed, that of quietude.

Queen Martha Entertains.

During the afternoon Queen Martha entertained her many friends at the Arlington hotel. Hundreds of residents who had admired her the day before as she rode through the streets in the carriage congratulated her on the election, and on the grace with which she filled the chair of honor.

Two additional members of the governor's staff were announced yesterday, and they are the youngest, possibly, that have ever served in any state. Willie Brougher, 10 years of age, is now the corporal, and James Slingerland, color-bearer. Each of these boys is a resident of Carson, a supporter of Chief Executive Sparks, and endowed at an early age with the military swagger.

Liberty for Thirty Cents

Will McMahon, the negro Hercules, threw a bull every one of the three days of the carnival by the "main strength of his teeth." The powerful athlete gripped the animal in the nose, twisted his own neck and turned the bull's head so far back on its shoulders that prevention of the fall was impossible.

Miss Annie Martin, chairman of the ladies' reception committee and chief attendant on Queen Martha, conducted the Eagles' jail today, when every prominent member of the order was caught by the special police, taken before the judge and fined. Miss Martin acted as judge, and out of the goodness of her heart she let some of the men with families at home go after paying 30 cents for their liberty.

ROBBED AT THE CARNIVAL

Complaints of Those Who Were Victims of Thieves.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CARSON CITY, July 5.—While Charles Winters and his family were enjoying the parade tonight a burglar entered his home and stole the jewels and a small sum of money.

W. A. Moffett, the well-known Virginia City engineer, occupied a crowded room in a prominent hotel here last night, and when he awakened he found this morning that some one had "touched" him for $60.

J. J. Murray, the decorator of the queen's throne, reports that he lost $43 out of his room in a local hotel.

A. B. Manlieim, the Reno candy merchant, suffered from pickpockets. Manheim did not tell the police the amount taken from his duck trousers.

Retribution Overtakes a Border Terror and Robber After Many Months

(By Associated Press)

BELLINGHAM, July 5.—Eighteen months ago Jake Terry, ex-convict, smuggler and trainrobber, entered A. L. Lindley's home, drove Lindley out at the point of a revolver and kept Lindley's wife with him for several days, while fighting off a posse of officers. Later the sheriff arrested him and was forced to take his prisoner across the line to Canada to protect him.

Today, as Lindley came home for lunch, he found Terry in the house and fired first. Terry dropped dead.

For years Terry has terrorized the authoities and citizens on both sides of the line, defying arrest. He was a partner of Bill Minor, now serving a life sentence for train robbery in British Columbia.

UNIVERSITY TO HAVE NEW HEATING PLANT

The buildings of the Nevada State University are to be heated by a central plant which will cost $35,000. This was determined yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the board of regents, who passed favorably upon the plans of Thomas Morrin of San Francisco, acting for Bliss & Farill, architects.

The plant will be installed in the annex to the machinery building. The fuel will be oil from a tank sunk in the ground south of the machinery building. Hot water will be forced through pipes leading to the various buildings on the campus.

WHAT THE WICKED PAY

The report of Justice of the Peace Frank Bell shows the following receipts of his office and their sources: Return fees, $63 40; collected for district attorney in opium cases, $50; and for informers in the same, $30; from the sale of second-hand stove, $5; penal fines and forfeitures, $120. The law is that when a conviction is had in a charge of opium smoking the fine must include $25 for the district attorney and $15 for the informer.

BATTLEPHIP FLEET TO PATROL THE PACIFIC

mored cruiser squadron to be assembled there. It is possible that they will be detained and accompany the battleships on th cruise. When Admiral Evans arrives off the coast his fleet will be increased by the addition of the battleship Nebraska, newly completed and simply waiting the rounding out of her crew. The batleships Wisconsin and Oregon, now at Bremerton navy yard, Puget Sound, will probably have completed their extensive repairs by next March so that they, too, may be added to the fleet which will then comprise 19 battleships, besides the armored and protected cruisers of the Pacific fleet.

THE BOND SEVERED

Judge Pike of the district court issued a decree of divorce yesterday in the case of Lillie A. Feezey versus Henry A. Feezey. The complaint was desertion and failure to provide. Mrs. Feezey was awarded custody of a minor child. The couple were married in Carson City in 1901.

KNIGHTS WILL ATTEND MASS AND BANQUET

Final preparations were completed last night at an enthusiastic meeting of the Knights of Columbus for the initiation to be held at Harmony hall tomorrow afternoon. A reception committee has been appointed by the members of the local lodge, and the visiting knights will be met at the trains and entertained during their visit.

Cars have been chartered to take the members of the order to Sparks, where mass will be celebrated in the Catholic church at 10 o'clock. The journey will be made from this city to attend the services, departing at 9:30 a. m. The park band will accompany the fraternity, playing on the cars.

Father Horgan, state chaplain of the Knights of Columbus, will deliver the sermon, and after the order has listened to his eloquence, lunch will be served. The musical programme has been selected by Director Mrs. I. W. O'Rourke of the choir, and selections from the celebrated masses will be sung by Mrs. Sunderland, Mrs. O'Rourke and Miss Gulling, sopranos; Mr. Berg and Mr. Morgan, tenors; Miss Bilven, Mrs. Nixon and Mrs. Littlejohn, altos; J. B. O'Sullivan, Mr. Forelich and Mr. Littlejohn, bassos, Mrs. Littlejohn is the organist.

The initiatory ceremonies will be held at 1:30 p. m. after the mass. All members of Nevada Council No. 978 as well as sojourning brothers are expected to attend the service. A banquet will be served the knights at 8 o'clock Sunday evening in the Hotel Nevada dining room. Mrs. O'Rourke, Miss McDonald and Miss Gulling have charge of the supper, and the menu, the music and the decorations will be elaborate.
